

Behavioural Therapist list

This is an informal list of psychological therapists in the UK who offer Behavioural Therapy & Cognitive Behavioural Therapy for the treatment of tics & Tourette Syndrome. Some of these practitioners work independently and others practice within a multi-disciplinary service. There are likely to be other clinicians who are not listed. In any service, an assessment will be carried out to evaluate whether behavioural or cognitive behavioural therapy is likely to be the most effective or strongly indicated treatment for tics. Please note some therapists also have the classification of Online therapy/telemedicine offered. There is a list of abbreviations at the end of this document.

Here is some advice about accessing therapy and what to do about the funding:

If one of the psychological therapists on our list provides NHS treatment in your area or region then your GP or specialist may be able to make a referral. This may depend on local referral pathways. If there is no NHS provider in your area then it is less likely you or your child will be able access this kind of treatment. An alternative in that situation is to consider private treatment, which some of the therapists in the list provide. Or the further growing possibility is to see a therapist online, e.g. telemedicine via Skype. A handful of psychological therapists are now offering this option. As far as we know it is effective, and there is research on this method.

Please note this list is for information purposes only & does not constitute a recommendation. The therapists below have told us they may be able to help. (Large print copy available on request). Last updated 04/10/24
